WILMINGTON - "Wilmington Pride" was evident in abundance at the Selectmen's meeting on Monday night, April 23, 2012 at the Wilmington Town Hall. The Board of Selectmen honored and saluted the Wilmington High School Div 2 State Hockey Championship Team. In deference to the hockey team's unity symbol of every player dying his hair blond for the duration of the state tournament, the Board of Selectmen and the Town Manager arrived sporting blond wigs and dyed hair as well as "Wilmington Blue" shirts, ties and blazers.

The entire hockey team (23 members) wearing team jerseys was in attendance as well as the coaches and team manager. Chairman Cimaglia and Town Manager Caira recognized and congratulated Coach Steve Scanlon and the team on their awesome victory over Franklin in the Division 2 State Final last month. Town Manager Michael Caira presented each team member with a handsome mug emblazoned with a team photo and "Wilmington 2012 Div 2 State Champions".

On their part, Coach Scanlon and team captain Dalton Rolli presented the Manager Caira with a hockey jersey with his name and the number 1 on it in recognition of the Town Manager's constant support of the team. To which, the Caira responded "not bad for a guy who can't skate."

The Crier congratulates the Wilmington Hockey Team, its coaches, and 23 fine young men.

The next item on the Selectmen's Agenda was recognition of 3 members of the Wilmington High School "9/11 Memorial Committee": Nick Troy, Matt Palermo and Anthony Vitale. This committee, established last fall under the tutelage of teachers

Tracey Kassin and Mark Stoffier and with the full endorsement of Supt. Joanne Benton, seeks to construct a suitable memorial to all the victims of 9/11 in the courtyard of the new Wilmington High School. Each of the three committee members offered their perspectives on 9/11 and their thoughts on what would constitute a suitable memorial including some very innovative ideas on the use of lighting, metal and glass.

Matt Palermo perhaps summed it up best when he said that the memorial's purpose was "not only to remind us of the 9/11 tragic day but to remember the people who died and their families whose lives were forever changed." By placing the memorial in the new

High school it is hoped that future generations of Wilmington students will keep the memory of 9/11 alive.

Chairman Cimaglia asked the 9/11 committee what were its goals and timetable and where it stood on fund raising and donations to date. The committee countered that almost $3000 has been raised through private donations and t-shirt sales. Consultation with architects indicated that approximately $10,000 would be needed to build a suitable memorial. Ms. Kassin said that the 9/11 committee had held a t-shirt design contest at the high school last Fall and that the winning design had been submitted by Savannah Hubbard. She then displayed the shirt whose front has a backdrop of an America Flag with a silhouette of NY City in the foreground and the Twin Towers outlined in white. On the back of the T shirt is emblazoned "Wilmington Remembers". These T Shirts can be purchased for $20 through the 9/11 committee and Wilmington High School. Donations can be made to the "WHS 911 Fund".

The dedicated 9/11 Committee which consists of 30 active members meets weekly and will see this project through to completion as part of the new high school. Additional fund raisers are planned. "Wilmington Pride" coming through again.

State aid looks promising for FY13

One step closer to grant for new windows and doors for the North Intermediate

BY KEVIN DONNELLY

WILMINGTON - Blonde wigs notwithstanding, Selectmen tackled state aid for the FY13 budget, new windows and doors at the North Intermediate School, and responded to constituent concerns about Krochmal Farm.

For FY2013 state aid, current estimates of the House Ways and Means State Aid Package at $12.9 million represents a slight increase ($345,158) from the Governor's package, which is close to the town's budgeted amount. While this is encouraging, final State aid numbers will not be available until June after the Senate's version is completed and reconciled with the House version.

The North Intermediate School is getting ready for a make-over, similar to the Shawsheen School. Wilmington Superintendent of Schools Joanne Benton received a letter on April 9, 2012 from John K. McCarthy, Executive Director of the Massachusetts School Building Authority, inviting the Town to participate in the state's Accelerated Repair Program by collaborating with MSBA in conducting a feasibility study at the North Intermediate School for a potential win-

Town Election Saturday!

School Cmte, Selectmen biggest races

BY AMANDA GELDHOF

WILMINGTON - On Saturday, April 28 residents will vote for several elected positions throughout Town: one seat on the Board of Selectmen, two seats on the Wilmington School Committee, one seat on the Shawsheen Valley Technical High School Committee, one seat for Town Moderator, one seat on the Housing Authority and one seat on the Redevelopment Authority.

The only contested races are the Board of Selectmen with two candidates for one open seat, and the Wilmington School Committee with three candidates for two open seats.

Board of Selectmen Race
Incumbent Michael Champoux is running for his second consecutive term on the board. While challenger Kevin MacDonald is not a stranger to board meetings, he is a newcomer to candidacy and the election process.

Although campaigns for election began only a few short months ago, both candidates clearly stated their respective positions on local issues at Board of

Levine wins prestigious CARA award for a capella solo, original song

BY DANA BURNHAM

WILMINGTON - Some years back, Adam Levine, who says he has always been interested in singing, went to a performance by professional a cappella groups. That event, Levine says, "blew me away, and was inspiring."

One would have to say that it was probably also transformative, as Levine recently found himself called to the stage at the Regent

Theater in Arlington on April 13 so he could accept two major awards during the Contemporary A Cappella Recording (CARA) Awards ceremony given by CASA (the Contemporary A Cappella Society). Levine won the award for Best Male Collegiate Solo, and Best Scholastic Original Song, "Phoenix." "Phoenix," the title cut of the album of the Food Pantry...

20 years offering a helping hand

BY AMANDA GELDHOF

WILMINGTON - The Wilmington Food Pantry celebrated its 20th anniversary last weekend with an event held at the Knights of Columbus Hall.

Bob DiPalma and Jim Hachey established the Wilmington Food Pantry on January 20, 1992. DiPalma said he and Hachey saw the need to help people in "our town" who were having a difficult time. The pantry operates solely on community donations as a service provided by the Wilmington Community Fund.

DiPalma received a certificate from State Representative Jim Miceli at the event for his work and dedication to the Pantry over the last 20 years.

"I was honored to accept it on behalf of all the volunteers who have helped make it a success," DiPalma said. He said the youth of the Wilmington community give him hope and belief that the future of the Town will be good.

Michelle Bryan, a volunteer at the pantry and a former student of DiPalma's,

Local woman will run Diva Dash

Holman takes part in East Coast's adventure challenge

By SHERYL WALSH

WILMINGTON - The SHAPE Diva Dash is coming to the east coast as the fitness event begins to expand across the country. The 5K women's obstacle course and adventure run will be held September 8, 2012 at the Marshfield Fairgrounds. Wilmington's Hannah Holman will be among this inaugural year's participants.

"I'm excited, but also a little nervous," Holman admits. "I just don't know what to expect." The certified fitness professional and the franchise owner of Stroller Strides North Wilmington has experience with competition, but this is different.

According to the SHAPE website, the women will "jump, climb, swing, and dash" their way to the finish line. Boston participants are warned, "Three miles of road and trail will challenge and surprise you as you battle to be the fastest adventure diva! Of course, we will try to slow you down with fun obstacle courses along the way." At the race's end, there are more contests with prizes and a party.

Exact details of the course remain secret until the actual event. Past courses have included rope climbing walls, tires, and water. While no swimming is required, the women could get wet. If there's a problem with an obstacle on the course, runners are provided a detour around it.

"You can run it, walk it and do all or none of the obstacles. It's mostly all about getting women together, having fun and testing your strength," Holman explains. "There are a ton of festivities at the end from massages to drinks and food."

The Boston Dash fairgrounds course is billed as "an amazing venue." It boasts variety and excitement provided by the natural terrain and the 11 obstacles the sponsors have created. The race starts at 8 a.m. Runners begin in waves at 15-minute intervals. The "after-party" with music, food, and drinks will be held from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. Prizes include a luxury vacation donated by SHAPE Magazine. Instructions for a do-it-yourself training program are on-line on the race web site. In addition, the local Rasamaya Running Club is sponsoring free training.

Each city event has a different cause. Most are related to women. Boston's run supports Strong Women Strong Girls (an agency that uses lessons from strong women in history to encourage girls and young women to become strong women themselves) and Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc. (a non-profit organization who provides assistance through established programs in local communities throughout the world).

Holman has worked with the corporate promoters to obtain a discount code for local participants. If you register and use the code DIVAHANNAH, you will receive $10 off of the registration fee. To learn more, contact Holman at hannah-holman@strollerstrides.net or visit the Diva Dash web site at www.divadash.com.

Hannah Holman, shown here at the Super Bowl Sunday 5k Road Race in Lowell, will be among the expected thousands of woman to participate in the SHAPE Diva Dash this fall. The unique obstacle course adventure run will be held at the Marshfield Fairgrounds on September 8, 2012. (courtesy photo) dow repair/replacement project. This invitation does not constitute approval or funding by the MSBA but does represent an important first step in moving toward at least partial state funding. The MSBA Accelerated Repair Cycle can last up to 18 months. The matter is also slated for Town Meeting as Article 9, asking residents to approve the costs to replace all single pane windows and exterior doors with energy efficient units. The Finance Committee has recommended approval of this article. Selectmen received correspondence from "Seminary of the Americas" voicing opposition to Native American representation on Massachusetts State flag. The letter was noted and filed.

Other Items approved by Board of Selectmen included appointing additional 2012 election workers for the Town Clerk, the reappointment of Constables, granting the Library use of the Town Common parking lot and Swain Green on September 22 for the Third Annual Community Fair, a one-day liquor license at Villanova Hall on May 12 to raise funds for the St. Thomas Appalachian Mountain Project, and the use of the Town Common and gazebo for the Summer Concert Series on Wednesdays July 11, 18, 25, and August 1.

Selectman candidate Kevin MacDonald raised concern over the perception of a lack of progress in the Krochmal Farm litigation and asked if there was a way for officials to address the odor problem more expeditiously. Town Manager Michael Cairra responded that the town is always looking for ways to mitigate the problem but added that he could not be more specific due to the ongoing litigation.

Irate ZBA members demand figures

Ledges at Woburn blasting, site work details still in flux

By PATRICK BLAIS

WOBURN - Floored by admissions that more earth removal is likely needed, exasperated Zoning Board of Appeals (ZBA) members last night demanded concrete details about the amount of excavation work associated with the Ledges at Woburn project.

During a meeting scheduled last night solely for the purpose of discussing the 168-unit housing project planned for 1042 Main Street, ZBA members learned that even more blasting and rock crushing might be needed in order to prepare the site for construction.

That disclosure, made well into a lengthy two-hour presentation by representatives of petitioner The Dolben Company, clearly irritated the city officials, who for the past eight months have been under the impression that those figures were exact. In response, Wakefield attorney Theodore Regnante, representing the applicants, promised to release that information within the next week.

"This board was given figures a couple months ago. Where did those come from?" asked ZBA Chair Edward Robertson. "We've gone through some critical stages of this [hearing] already. I was under the impression that the [details were firm]."

"I want to be very clear that whatever number you present to this city and this board is exactly what's being removed. I don't want to hear, 'Oops, it's now 250,000 [cubic yards of excavation]," ZBA member Margaret Pinkham later commented.

Blasting and earth removal for the affordable housing project, to be developed on nine-acres of land situated atop hilly terrain overlooking Main Street near the Wilmington-line, has proven to be the most controversial aspect of the proposal.

In 2003, when the project was first presented to the ZBA, local developer Anthony Santullo told the city that 125,000 cubic yards of fill needed to be blasted and excavated from the property.

However, in Sept. of 2011, ZBA members learned that Santullo had sold the rights to the housing project to Woburn 38 Development, which in turn intends to flip the property to Presidential Way's The Dolben Company.

Last September, ZBA members were told that The Dolben Company planned to submit an amended project proposal, which could require as much as 200,000 cubic yards of excavation work.

In contrast to the original Santullo proposal, where earth removal was expected to take a little more than two months, consultants for the Woburn firm have estimated that nine-to-12 months of daily blasting is needed to prepare the land for construction.

The petitioners are also asking for permission to crush and process that blasted material on-site, before it's carted away by Acton's Onyx Corporation — resulting in about 60 truck trips per day to-and-from the site.

Last night, Pinkham was trying to determine exactly how much material will be moved off site by the Acton firm, which apparently plans to sell the crushed and processed rock.

In particular, the ZBA member was questioning company president John Durkin about his financial arrangement with Dolben, which will apparently largely reimburse the Acton firm by allowing it to sell those materials.

"It's going to finance the work to get the site pad ready," said Durkin.

When Durkin later revealed that the exact amount of blasting and excavation work hasn't been calculated, ZBA members challenged the accuracy of a number of other details.

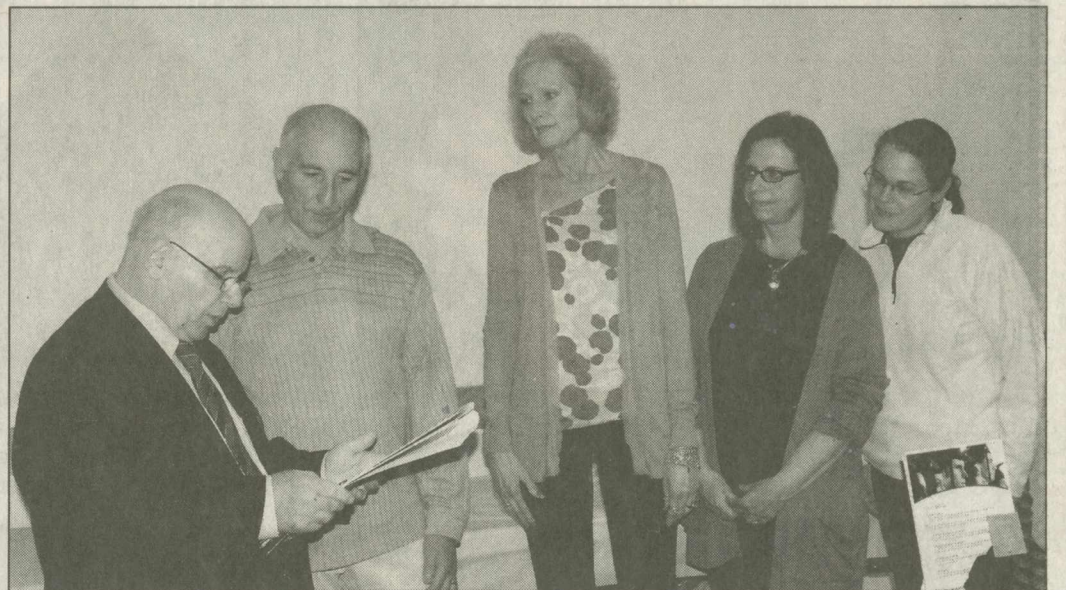

In particular, Robertson referred to the fact that a blasting expert had just recently submitted a work plan to Fire Chief Paul Tortolano and board members for examination.

However, if the exact amount of rock to be removed hasn't been determined, that blasting proposal could change at any time, the ZBA Chairman argued.

"Your blasting expert, he provided estimates based on time frame and how much trucking was required," Robertson pointed out, questioning the details about the duration and extent of the site work.

Pinkham later vented that the city is prepared to hire its own consultants to go over the project, but the specifics of some of the most controversial aspects of it haven't even been finalized.

"If we don't have hard data to give to our peer reviewers, that's going to be a problem," the ZBA member said.

Bob DiPalma was recognized by State Rep. James Miceli for his years of service and dedication to the Wilmington Food Pantry/Community Fund during an event celebrating 20 years of success in the town. Dianna DiGregorio was also recognized by Miceli while Michelle Bryan and Jomarie O'Mahony looked on.

said DiPalma's dedication and commitment are what make the Wilmington Food Pantry one of the best in the area.

"One of the first things that impressed me about Bob and the pantry is how organized it is. Distribution nights run like clock-work," she said. "I have been there working on a few holidays and Bob makes sure these families go home with something extra, whether it's a turkey, ham or Easter basket."

DiPalma's organization and generosity have poured into not only Wilmington, but surrounding communities as well. He said when the Pantry receives food items that have short shelf-life, such as baby food, the organization will send the food to either a shelter in Lowell or to a soup kitchen in Lawrence if Wilmington residents aren't able to use it before the expiration dates.

"Hungry is hungry no matter where you live," DiPalma said. For more information on food, monetary donations, please visit the

Although DiPalma has led the Pantry for 20 years, he recently brought in new members to help run the operations. Every day opera-

"My hope is that they will bring new life and new ideas," he said. "There is always someone with a better idea."

Levine wins a cappella award

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 same name from Levine's Brandeis University vocal group VoiceMale, was written, produced and arranged by Levine. The song is also included on several national and international compilations.

A 2007 graduate of Wilmington High School, Levine was actively involved with all things musical while in school. While at Wilmington Middle School, he took part in the musicals, and while at Wilmington High, as a freshman auditioned for and was accepted into SoundScape, the school's a cappella group in its inaugural year. Levine pointed out that Wilmington has many great teachers in the various music programs, but more importantly "the entire music community in the Wilmington Public Schools is such a nurturing community; there is so much support."

When Levine was trying to decide where to go to college, the fact that Brandeis had a dozen or so a cappella groups was definitely a factor. He had heard of their award-winning group VoiceMale, and knew that they recorded albums and toured. Although awed by the group, Levine auditioned, and again, was accepted. Levine says being a member of VoiceMale was "a huge commitment, but it has been the most amazing experience of my life."

The song Levine won the awards for was also nominated for Best Male Collegiate Song 2012, and the song's album, also called Phoenix, was nominated for 'Best Male Collegiate Album 2012.' In addition, shortly before the award nominations came out, "Phoenix" was placed on all three major a cappella compilation albums, making it the first song to have ever been selected for all three.

The compilations are that Levine's song "Phoenix" is on are Best of College A Cappella (BOCA) 2012 (<http://www.varsityvocals.com/bestof-albums.html>), Sing 8: Too Cubed (<http://acappellarecords.com/compilation/singalbum/sing8>) (<http://www.casa.org/sing&tracklist>), and Voices Only 2011 (<http://www.voicesonlyacappella.com/VO/vo2011.php>).

Having graduated from Brandeis in 2011, where he double-majored in Computer Science and Spanish, and minored in Music, Levine is now working as a software engineer and a Web developer for a company in Boston. Music is still definitely part of his life - he's currently taking courses at Berkeley School of Music with an eye to someday writing songs for film and television.

ABOUT ESTATE TAXES

The estate tax exemption rises slightly to $5,120,000 this year, due to inflation. The tax rate stays at 35 percent.

Though smaller estates are not liable for taxes, it's sometimes advisable to file an estate tax return anyway. Recent rulings by the Internal Revenue Service suggest that couples can only use the "portability" provision - allowing the exemption of a deceased spouse to be added to that of the survivor - if an estate-tax return is filed listing the assets of the deceased spouses and their values at the time of death. This helps those assets avoid taxation if their value rises substantially later.

The annual gift tax exclusion remains at $13,000 per donee. If you want to gift more - say for a grandchild's tuition or medical bills - writing the tuition check directly to the provider escapes the limits. There are mechanisms that can allow five years' worth of 529 contributions to be paid and deducted, too.

More for the family and less for Uncle Sam - that's our motto, too, at

Thank you Tewksbury

Tonight the Tewksbury School Committee will meet for the first time in three years without me sitting at the table. Serving on that committee was a tremendous honor and privilege for me, one that I took seriously every single day of my term.

At my last meeting my colleagues surprised me with their generous gifts and praise, and caught me a bit off balance. Still, I had offered some words on the athletic field complex, which failed at the ballot box two weeks ago, but also summed up the three years of my term. I've had several requests to put those words into print, so I present them below with a little editing. Bottom line, Tewksbury has come a long way from 2009 - all the combined effort of the School Committee, Selectmen, administrators, teachers, staff, appointed officials (such as the Finance Committee), and the scores of volunteers that served on committees and board to examine issues, explore options, interview candidates, and recommend solutions. A community that comes together for a shared cause, in this case education, can make substantial differences in the face of any obstacle.

I encourage everyone to examine their schedules and take some time to give back, especially women; the experience and knowledge gained is tremendously rewarding. Thank you, Tewksbury, for allowing me to serve you.

Three years ago Tewksbury Public Schools faced an enormous fiscal crisis, five years in the making. Coming out of my experience on the Budget Advisory Committee and having attended every School Committee meeting for years, I knew the town in general, and the School Committee in particular, really needed to prioritize our expenditures. Three years ago we were facing the closure of two elementary schools, continual declines in our Chapter 70 funding, high class sizes throughout the district K to 12, and academic challenges we needed to analyze. We knew we needed a new high school and elementary schools on the horizon and we were bleeding with the advent of the so-called Great Recession.

Since then, no matter who has occupied the seats here, every member has worked to turn this ship around, without having to go back to residents for a proposition 2 ½ operational override. We have lowered class sizes across the district, reaching our goal of keeping K-4 classrooms under 25 students. We have kept all our schools open. In fact, when I took office we were the third from the worst in the state for student teacher ratio. Today we are solidly in the middle with an average class size of 20.2 and better numbers than Lincoln-Sudbury, Billerica, Reading, Lynnfield, Acton-Boxborough, Andover, North Andover, North Reading, Wilmington, and Weston.

We have invested our one-time monies in equipping our buildings with access to high technology - with interactive white boards in most classrooms throughout the district, all the way down to pre-school. As part of our new High School we have invested in an iPad pilot program to carefully study how our students and teachers interact and produce in the classroom. We have invested in a new English Language Arts program, a new math series, a virtual high school for students and a data management systems for our educators.

We have strengthened our infrastructures, replacing vehicles with this budget in a revenue neutral way.

Every year the committee has changed a little, with each one having a different dynamic - but our priorities have remained unchanged - always to do the very best for our kids and be responsible stewards of the taxpayer dollars. Over the last three years, our economy has been such that we have respected every dime that came through our doors. To that end, we hired a consultant to get us into better fiscal shape, and we listened. Among his suggestions was to increase our free and reduced lunch profile, and we have achieved that with the implementation of our online payment system and card readers in cafeterias.

We have finally secured a contract with our teachers that is affordable, does not exceed our levy limit, and will achieve stability for three years to come - making our budgeting much more efficient. We are working to secure contracts with all our collective bargaining units, who have been with us through thick and thin. I sat in this very seat three years ago and asked our staff to hang together, to ride out the Great Recession, and we would protect our employees by keeping their jobs. Prior to 2009, we shed teachers every single year, which is what drove up our class sizes to begin with.

I am so proud to say that today Tewksbury is a much stronger district. Turning this corner in Tewksbury financially, we now must start every project and plan with an eye toward the long-term goal. As always, with an eye toward the financial future, I would recommend that the next committee aggressively pursue the creation of a revolving fund in which to deposit monies from facilities rentals to help fund field maintenance and potentially defray the cost of artificial turf down the road. Saving for the future just makes good sense and will show taxpayers that the Committee is committed to conservative budgeting.

Op-Ed

Yet another educational unfunded mandate

The Wilmington School Committee strongly supports the Massachusetts Association of School Committees' (MASC) efforts to protect and expand education funding, reduce capricious regulations, limit unfunded mandates, and ensure that new education laws are reasonable and workable for school districts. The School Committee agrees with MASC's prediction that regulatory issues will reach an unprecedented level over the next two years as the state's new educator evaluation system and the alternative structure for measuring success are implemented at the same time as we adapt our curricula to match the new Common Core Standards.

As outlined in MASC's "Public Policy Priorities 2012," recently promulgated regulations - stemming from The Race To The Top legislation - requires Wilmington to implement a new educator evaluation system for teachers, administrators and superintendents by the 2013-2014 school year. The regulations will require renegotiations of collective bargaining agreements for unionized educators and a much longer evaluation process for principals, nonunion department heads, and central office administrators. Preliminary estimates are that principals and assistant principals will need to commit up to TEN additional hours PER WEEK to fulfill the evaluation requirements of the new regulations, while the Superintendent and central office staff will also be burdened with many new obligations. In addition, the district must provide the requisite professional training and development to educate the affected professionals about these new standards and evaluation processes.

The School Committee - on the recommendation of Superintendent Joanne Benton and her leadership team - unanimously voted to not participate in Race To The Top. Wilmington declined for many reasons, both fundamental and practical. The district, for example, had just successfully negotiated a 3-year contract with the Wilmington Teachers Union and was not prepared - nor inclined - to re-enter negotiations so soon thereafter. Despite voting against The Race To The Top, the state is now forcing Wilmington - along with the other one-third of Massachusetts school districts that declined - to participate. To make matters worse, Wilmington is unable to receive any state or federal monies to help fund this monstrous mandate because of its "NO" vote. If Wilmington must participate, the Wilmington School Committee implores our state and federal representatives to do all that they can to help fund the implementation and training associated with this new teacher evaluation. The only thing worse than an unwanted mandate is an unwanted, unfunded mandate.

Robert Hayes, a Wilmington School Committee member, serves as the Legislative Delegate for the Committee.

Champoux responds to letters

Dear Editor,

Please allow me this opportunity to respond to comments specifically directed at me in last week's Opinion page of the Town Crier, by Mario Marchese and Kevin MacDonald.

With regard to Mr. Marchese's comments, let me simply repeat what I said at the last Board of Selectman's meeting that I always welcome input from fellow residents. We, as members of the Board of Selectmen, often receive communications from citizens on any number of subjects. Regardless of the issue at hand, I have always treated visitors and fellow Board members alike with respect, dignity and professionalism. I have never used a Selectman's meeting or the press to launch any negative commentary or negative campaigning. It is simply not my style. I do, however, voice my honest opinion regardless of the subject matter. My recent reaction to Mr. Marchese's letter was no different. I simply spoke my mind.

As Mr. Marchese mentioned in his letter last week, I have since had the opportunity to speak with him directly, and in light of that conversation, I considered this to be, at best a misunderstanding, and at worst a simple difference of opinion. Either way, I was prepared to move on. Frankly, based on the conversation we had, I was surprised that he saw fit to write to the newspaper at all, but that is certainly his right. Nevertheless, when it comes to treating people with respect, civility and common courtesy, I will let my record over the course of the past three years as a Selectman, and over the past thirteen years as a member of the Wilmington community, speak for itself.

On the other hand, my opponent Kevin MacDonald challenges my integrity as a member of The Board of Selectmen, and urges voters to judge his character based on a one-hour televised candidate's debate, rather than by the consistently aggressive, abusive, disrespectful and intimidating conduct he has demonstrated at countless Town Meetings, Selectmen meetings and other public forums over the course of the past decade. Several from which he has been forcibly removed due to his conduct.

While Candidate Kevin "MacSanity" writes a letter to the Editor, complaining that people have received "misinformation" about him, the Real Kevin MacDonald accosts two members of the Board of Selectmen in the dark of night, on the way to our cars after our most recent meeting, requiring police intervention on behalf of a fellow member of the Board. And he wants your vote??

I believe that Wilmington voters see through the "MacSanity" charade and his selective civility, and they will see the candidates for who we really are. I appreciate the trust that Wilmington voters have placed in me, as their representative on The Board of Selectmen during the past three years, and I look forward to the privilege of serving for another three years. Thank you for your consideration.

Mike Champoux
Wilmington Selectman

Reed thanks voters

To the Editor,
Thank you to the residents of Tewksbury for coming out on April 14th and exercising your right to vote.

Your support in my successful re-election will enable me to continue working with you to make our Town the best it can possibly be.

Also, I would like to thank the dedicated and enthusiastic supporters who played an essential role in helping me during this campaign. They placed and hosted yard signs, worked tirelessly holding signs and spread the word about my planning philosophy.

I look forward to serving again, as your Planning Board member, to complete a new Master Plan, rehabilitate the Town Hall, build Senior housing on Livingston Street and bring economic vitality to Tewksbury.

With Sincere Appreciation,
Nancy Reed

Fernald offers thanks

Pig odor "natural"

Thumbs down to Tewksbury Odor Group for filing a lawsuit against Krochmal Farm, even though the farm is in compliance with Board of Health regulations implemented as a result of neighbors previous complaints. I am also downwind of the farm, and I am always grateful it is a natural farm odor and not a chemical fume from one of the many factories. Be careful what you ask for, Mr. Powers, you may just get rid of the farm, and instead have more industry. I don't need an "official" to tell me the smell of piggy poo isn't harmful to my health! But exhaust fumes, factory fumes, and all those chemicals you pour on your lawn are!

"Heir apparent?"

Since when is the position of Town Manager an appointed position? The Board of Selectmen have on numerous public occasions and forums, announced their support of Jeff Hull. I'm sure he is a qualified individual, but I'm quite sure that he's not the only one. It seems more than a little bit shady that there has been no public advertisement of the Town Manager's Position, yet the Selectmen have already seemingly appointed Mr. Hull. I do believe that our present Town Manager applied for the position he holds and it seems only honest and forthright to have all applicants interested now be afforded the same benefit...at least it looks better than the king appointing his heir apparent.

(Editor's Note: the Town Manager is a position appointed by the Board of Selectmen, not an elected position.)

Banks vs. banks, restaurants vs. restaurants, families vs. families, law office vs. law office, service groups vs. service groups, and real estate agents vs. real estate agents - the potential is unlimited.

Teams will face three rounds of twenty-five questions.

DiNuccio inducted into Stonehill Honor Society

EASTON - Wilmington native Jennifer DiNuccio was recently inducted into Stonehill College's Honor Society, Lambda Epsilon Sigma. DiNuccio is a member of Stonehill's Class of 2012.

The purpose of the society is to recognize and promote scholarship at the College. Juniors and seniors who have attained a 3.5 cumulative grade point average are invited to apply for consideration. Acceptance into the society is based on evidence of academic achievement, of a pursuit of learning that extends beyond the classroom environment and of an ability to communicate effectively through writing.

Additionally, in order to be inducted into the society, the student must be recommended by faculty both from the student's major and from outside of the student's major.

Stonehill College is a welcoming, academically challenging community of 2,500 students on a beautiful, active campus located 22 miles south of Boston, offering easy access to internships, job opportunities, museums, sporting events, and more. Stonehill's dedicated and supportive faculty mentor students in more than 80 diverse majors and minors in the liberal arts, sciences, and business. Stonehill is a vibrant place where students learn to think, act, and lead with courage toward the creation of a more just and compassionate world.

Topics will include sports, entertainment (music, television, and movies), history, and Wilmington-specific questions as well. Teams will produce written answers on the provided score sheets. Scores will be tallied and the next round will begin. Running scores will be posted at the end of each round for teams to track their standings.

Best of all, the proceeds raised from the event will benefit Rotary Club scholarships for Wilmington students attending any high school and preparing for college. Over the years, the club has raised and donated more than $405,000 to Wilmington students.

The fun-filled evening, which begins promptly at 7:00 p.m., will feature raffles and a cash bar. The cost is $100 per team, and all teams are made up of four people. Teams are encouraged to bring their own munchies. Doors open at 6:00 p.m.

OBITUARY

Marie Landon

Homemaker; loved to read, sew, knit and crochet

Marie Landon, age 82, formerly of Kill Devil Hills, NC, passed away peacefully on April 10, 2012 at Woodbriar of Wilmington with her family by her side.

Born in Evanston, Illinois, Marie was raised in the Chicago area. After graduating high school, Marie went on to earn a bachelor's degree from Northwestern University where she also met her future husband, Robert. The couple married in 1951. Following Robert's discharge from the Army several years later, they moved all around the country and raised three children together, spending time in Indiana, Illinois, California, Michigan, Connecticut and New York.

Robert and Marie found a home though, when they settled in Kill Devil Hills on the Outer Banks of North Carolina in 1986.

Marie was a homemaker who loved to read as well as sew, knit and crochet. She loved making many of her own clothes as well as sweaters for her family. Marie found a new passion when she took up kayaking in North Carolina which she could do right from her backyard. Marie and Robert loved having a dog and always had a "Sheltie" for companionship.

Marie was the beloved wife of the late Robert Landon. She was the loving mother of Stephen Landon of Bracey, Virginia, Barbara Landon of Des Moines, Iowa, and Jeffrey Landon and his wife Susan of Tewksbury. She was also predeceased by her brother, Roger Schierhorn. All services were privately held. Arrangements were under the direction of the Nichols Funeral Home.

It was like coming home for Jamie Herther of Google who was the guest speaker at the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce annual meeting held at Shriner's Auditorium on Thursday. Her family has roots in Wilmington. She shared innovative marketing ideas with the Chamber members. The Chamber introduced their new officers to the membership, including Mike Champoux as president, Holly Nahabedian as treasurer, Sheila Bissett as 1st vice president, and Holly McCann as 2nd vice president.

Abele and Jacobs are April's top seniors at Shawsheen Tech

BILLERICA - Rebecca Abele and Franklin Jacobs were honored by Shawsheen Valley Technical High School as the Seniors of the Month for April.

Jacobs, of Billerica, has an array of interests that makes it easy to see why he is pursuing a career in a creative field such as filmmaking or communications.

A senior that is specializing in plumbing at

Rebecca Abele

Shawsheen Tech, Jacobs' interests include everything from astronomy to snowboarding and mountain climbing.

Ranked in the top half of senior class academically, Jacobs will enter a four-year college next year with an impressive resume.

Along with being an honor roll student in the classroom, Jacobs has worked hard to help others enjoy their experience at Shawsheen Tech as well. For the past two years, Jacobs has worked as both a school mentor and an orientation leader.

Jacobs doesn't slow down much outside of the school either as he is a member of Shawsheen Tech's Outdoor Club and has been a member of the Ram spring track squad and the boys hockey team.

As a result of his well-rounded background, Jacobs received a Wendy's High School Heisman Award earlier this year. This honor, sponsored by the popular restaurant, recognizes students for their efforts in the classroom, in the community and in athletics.

Abele, a resident of Tewksbury, is a shining example of how Shawsheen Tech helps prepare students for the future.

An outstanding student in the health technology shop, Abele's experiences at Shawsheen have helped her decide to attend nursing school with hopes of becoming a nurse practitioner.

Abele certainly seems well equipped to make her passion a career. She is an active volunteer, helping at Winchester Hospital and in Lowell at Wish Project, is certified in both CPR and first aid and is a Certified

Franklin Jacobs

Nursing Assistant (CNA).

At school, Abele has an impressive collection of accomplishments.

She's ranked within the top 20 of her class academically, is a member of the National Honor Society and has garnered two Citizenship Awards.

She has been a member of Student Council for three years and the Traveling Rams for two years, serving as president as a senior. The Traveling Rams is a club that seeks to broaden Shawsheen students' experiences. It offers the opportunity to travel to a culturally significant international destination at least once each year.

Abele has also participated in Skills USA.

Her other interests include softball and the girl scouts.

Kraynick completes Marine basic training

PARRIS ISLAND, SC - Marine Corps Pvt. Andrew J. Kraynick, son of Elizabeth Kraynick of Tewksbury, recently completed 12 weeks of basic training at Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris Island, South Carolina, designed to challenge new Marine recruits both physically and mentally.

Kraynick and fellow recruits began their training at 5 a. m. by running three miles and performing calisthenics. In addition to the physical conditioning program, Kraynick spent numerous hours in classroom and field assignments which included learning first aid, uniform regulations, combat water survival, marksmanship, hand-to-hand combat and assorted weapons training. They performed close order drill and operated as a small infantry unit during field training.

Kraynick and other recruits also received instruction on the Marine Corps' core values: honor, courage and commitment; and what the core values mean in guiding personal and professional conduct.

Local residents attend program at Disney World

TEWKSBURY - The following local youth traveled to a Disney theme park to take part in one of the Disney Youth Education Series Programs (Y.E.S.):

Tewksbury Memorial High School of Tewksbury traveled to the Downtown Disney at Walt Disney World Resort on February 23, 2012 to take part in the Showbiz Magic at La Nouba by Cirque du Soleil program.

Each year, individuals and groups from around the world travel to Disney theme parks to take part in one of the several Disney Y.E.S. programs offered throughout the Resort. Most of the programs take place in and behind the scenes of the world-famous Theme Parks.

Areas of study include career discovery, life management, physical science, natural science, history, and art and humanities. The programs use varied resources onstage and backstage to bring real world examples to the learning experience.

These two to three-hour interactive educational experiences are available at both the Walt Disney World Resort in Florida and Disneyland Resort in California. They are led by professional Disney facilitators who help guide the students and assist them in understanding the key lessons.

For more information on Disney Y.E.S. Programs, visit www.DisneyYES.com or call 800-603-0552.

WCTV changes

Comcast changes may affect your access

WILMINGTON- WCTV-E is moving to a new home this spring! After April 17th, WCTV's educational channel will move from Comcast's channel 10 to channel 99. This will make the WCTV channel listings on Comcast channel 9, 99, and 22. Verizon subscribers will not be affected; WCTV channels will continue to be 37, 38, and 39.

Channel 10 will now be occupied by WWDP, a television station which airs home shopping programs. This move comes as WWDP receives must-carry status by the Federal Communications Commission. WWDP airs shows from ShopNBC, as well as three hours weekly of mandatory Educational/Informational programming. WWDP is not affiliated with WCTV in any way; it is owned by ValueVision Media and operates out of Norwell, Massachusetts.

WCTV-E will continue to run local educational programming on channel 99. This includes programs from the Wilmington Public School system, such as the WHS Pep Rallies and the Pre-Prom meetings. WCTV-E also airs shows about Wilmington schools, such as "In the Loop" and WHS athletic programs, like WHS Hockey, Basketball, and Wrestling. Programs that encourage lifelong education and learning, such as "Saturday Playhouse", "College Roundtable", and "NASA 360" also broadcast on WCTV-E. In addition to airing on Comcast's channel 99, the educational channel will also continue to be located on channel 39 on Verizon, and online at <http://vimeo.com/channels/wctve>.

WCTV's other channels, WCTV-P and WCTV-G will be unaffected by the move. WCTV-P, Wilmington's Public Access Channel, will continue to air on Comcast's channel 9 and Verizon's channel 37, airing favorite Wilmington programs such as "Where's Wilmington", "Sports Forum", "Glitz Gourmet", "Stateside Footy", "Healthy You", and "Making it in Wilmington". WCTV-G, Wilmington's Government Access Channel, will remain on Comcast's channel 22 and Verizon's channel 38, airing School Committee, Board of Selectmen, and Elder Services meetings, along with popular programs such as "Tarr Talk TV", "What's Buzzing at the Buzzell", and "A Conversation with Congressman Tierney".

Though WCTV-E's location may be changing, the content will remain the same. WCTV will continue to bring the town of Wilmington quality programming by Wilmington residents, for Wilmington residents. "All PEG [public, educational, governmental] stations are making this move from channel 10 to channel 99," explains WCTV director Sandra Curtin. "We hope people follow us to channel 99." Keep watching WCTV on channels 9, 99, and 22 on Comcast, and 37, 38, and 39 on Verizon. For more information about WCTV visit www.wctv.org or call (978) 657-4066.

Selectmen meetings, public hearings and candidate debates throughout the life of the New High School Building Project and into election campaigns. Champoux supported the high school since its inception and MacDonald has vehemently fought it for the same amount of time.

"I should be re-elected to the board of Selectmen because I am an objective, fair, articulate and professional resident that truly does represent the interests and opinions of the population of Wilmington and wishes to serve them," Champoux previously told the Crier.

"I believe I am a better candidate than my opponent because I would fight harder to help people. I also believe I make a better effort to know more about all the issues in Town. I also know that I would not be a cheerleader for the crony establishment and people in conflict of interest," MacDonald said.

Wilmington School Committee Race

Candidates for the two open seats on the Wilmington School Committee include incumbent Mario Marchese, returning candidate Manny Mulas, and newcomer Mary Jane (MJ) Byrnes.

While all three candidates fully support adding technology and moving to a 21st century curriculum, each one emphasizes the importance of different aspects of implementing the necessary changes.

At the recent School Committee Debate held at WCTV, Marchese said the interaction between students and teachers that technology allows is the greatest benefit and the manner in which it is added to and used within the curriculum deserved the most focus. Mulas stressed the importance of properly training teachers and staff members to use and teach the technology to students while Byrnes said she would like to see the use of technology in the earlier grades to help prepare students entering the hopefully soon to be technologically based middle and high schools.

The School Committee candidates commend each other for their hard work and enthusiasm regarding Wilmington schools and students, each candidate believes s/he will bring something unique to the Committee if elected.

"What I feel might set me apart from the other candidates is by my experiences over the years, through my active participation within the various school advisory councils," Byrnes said previously. "Co-chairing the Wildwood PAC, The SEPAC board, and through my children's time in the district, it's afforded me an opportunity to be in the classroom environment and to see the mechanics of how our children are learning, and the impact the decisions of our school committee has on our students, teachers, parents and administration."

"I will say that the one thing though that they do not have is the three years of tremendous experience and knowledge that I have gained while serving on the Wilmington School Committee," Marchese said. "There truly is a learning curve, just as in any new job, serving on the Wilmington School Committee, but I feel that I have surpassed that and I can enter into a second term hitting the ground running."

Mulas previously told the Crier what he thinks sets him apart from his opponents. "What I feel makes me the better candidate for School Committee is the fact that I am a tireless advocate for kids in the school system: all kids. Whether they are in kindergarten or a senior in High School they are kids and they deserve the best teachers, the best schools, the best education and I promise to make this possible as a member of the school committee," he said.

Redevelopment Authority Darryl MacDonald, brother to Board of Selectmen candidate Kevin MacDonald, is the only candidate for the one open seat on the Redevelopment Authority, but a warrant article for the Annual Town Meeting could eliminate the authority if voters approve the measure.

Article 23, if approved by voters, would give the Town permission to seek an act of special legislation allowing the Board of Selectmen to dissolve the Town of Wilmington's Redevelopment Authority.

Other non-contested races James Stewart, long-time Town Moderator, is running for re-election without challenge.

Stacie Murphy is running for her first full term in the five-year seat on the Housing Authority. Murphy stepped in to replace Matthew Cox after his resignation in 2010.

Incumbent Jim Gillis is running unopposed to be a Wilmington representative on the Shawsheen Valley Technical High School Committee. Shawsheen Valley Technical High School lies in the middle of Massachusetts' Merrimack Valley, serving the towns of Bedford, Burlington, Billerica, Wilmington, and Tewksbury. The Committee is comprised of two members from each town served. Robert Peterson, the Vice Chairman of the Committee, serves as the second Wilmington representative.

Polls in Wilmington will open at 8 a.m. and close at 8 p.m. on Saturday, April 28 for the Annual Town Election. Please call the Town Clerk's office at 978-658-2030 for details on voting locations.

Body Infusion opens next week!

New business aims to make exercise fun for all ages, levels

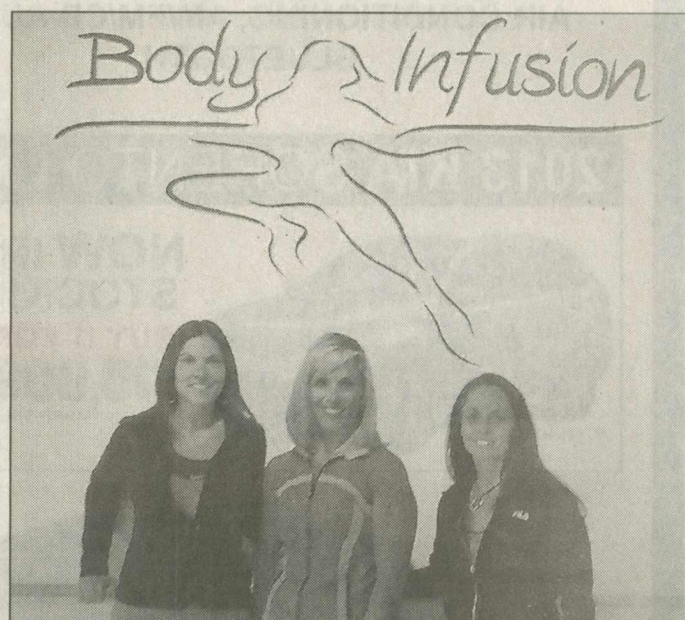

By AMANDA GELDHOF

WILMINGTON - A new business is opening in Wilmington next week. Emily Vieira of Wilmington is teaming up with friends and co-workers Heather Lowe and Rose Ryan, of Woburn and Tewksbury respectively, to open Body Infusion.

On Friday, May 4, Body Infusion will host an open house event from 5 p.m. - 8 p.m. at the business location, 296 Shawsheen Avenue, across the street from Shawsheen Elementary School. At the event attendees can enter for a chance to win Red Sox tickets, but the fun doesn't stop there; Saturday and Sunday, May 5 and 6, classes are free. Vieira, Lowe and Ryan will teach a line-up of eight 30-minute classes each day. Go to the Body Infusion website for a schedule of classes or to register. www.bodyinfusionbyher.com

"Just come, have fun and work out with us," Vieira said. "We have more fun than anyone else," Ryan added.

Body Infusion offers health and wellness classes for men, women, children and seniors ranging from yoga, pilates and mommy & me sessions to muscle conditioning, kick boxing, indoor cycling and more. Vieira, Ryan and Lowe created a workout class called Body Infusion that the business' website describes as "a Barre class gone wild!" The class incorporates a ballet barre, a rubber ball, and yoga straps, and is geared to all fitness levels.

"Body Infusion is for a five-year-old or a 90-year-old," Ryan said. "There's no heart pounding or impact exercises." Lowe explained that although it is not on the schedule yet, they will also offer Teen Infusion and Senior Infusion classes.

The website touts that between all three women, they offer more than 30 years of fitness teaching experience. Actually the exact number of years is 43 and counting. Lowe has been teaching fitness classes for 17 years, Ryan has been teaching for 14 years, and Vieira has been teaching fitness for 12 years.

Fitness is not the only subject Vieira teaches. Many residents may recognize her as Mrs. Vieira the Kindergarten teacher at the Wildwood School. She also graduated from Wilmington High School in 1999. Don't worry, parents; although the new business is sure to keep all three women busy, they do not plan on leaving their day-time jobs.

Annual Parade a home run

Little League marches to a new season

By KAYTI BURT
Sports Correspondent

The Little Leaguers were not the only stars at Saturday's Wilmington Little League (WLL) opening day celebrations. The ceremony was a celebration of the entire town, from the coaches and parents who support the players to the volunteers and organizations that devote their time to making Wilmington Little League an experience their kids will always remember. The Parade of Players, in which hundreds of energetic kids are herded into procession, perhaps best epitomized what it looks like when an entire town works together. Families lined the parade's path from the town common down Church Street to Rotary Park, cheering on their players.

The parade was led by the Wilmington Minutemen, who volunteered their flags and muskets for the fourth annual parade.

There was one team that was not like the others: the Wilmington High School Boys Hockey team, still smiling after clinching the Division II title last month. Town Manager Michael Caira remarked that the boys have brought "so much pride" to the community and, if the cheers were any indication, his words could not be more true.

"Wilmington has always had a tradition of excellence, both academically and in sports, and today we would like to recognize another chapter in our town's history," said Joe Mullens, Special Events Coordinator, before recognizing each hockey player individually. The team will be joining State Representative Jim Miceli, who was on hand for the event, at the statehouse in a few weeks for recognition of their accomplishment.

Mullens was MC for the ceremony that followed the parade. Calling on the long history of little league to put the day's meaning in perspective, he spoke about the first little league came in Williamsburg, Penn. on June 6, 1939 in which Lundy Lumber defeated Lycoming Dairy 23-8. Since that day, little league has blossomed into an international organization, he noted, and, today, there are nearly 200,000 teams in over 80 countries worldwide, representing more than 2.6 million girls and boys.

"None of this would be possible without the commitment of local officials and the hard work of many dedicated volunteers," said Mullens.

Among the number Mullens thanked: Town Manager Caira; the Department of Public Works (DPW) Superintendent Don Onusseit and the crew from the DPW for field maintenance; the Board of Selectmen; the police and fire departments; the Wilmington Kiwanas Club; the Wilmington Minutemen; the Town Crier; the Lowell Spinners; Custom Stitch of Wilmington; Extra Innings of Tewksbury; and Kane Foods, who donated all of those hotdogs for the day. Mullens also extended a blanket thank you to all of the coaches, managers and sponsors, as well as the people who donated food to the first annual food drive that went along with the event. The food drive, co-run by Boy Scout Troup 56, collected more than 100 items for the Wilmington Food Pantry.

The Wilmington chapter of the Kiwanis Club cooked the 500 hot dogs given out to the players and coaches.

"This is an event we always look forward to," said Chapter President Dennis McCarthy. "This kicks off our season."

One of the exciting changes for the little league players is the set of new dugouts at Rotary Park, which were completed just in time for opening day festivities. Work on the structures - which included dismantling the old dugouts, laying a new base, building the structures, and applying finishing touches like paint - was kept up by an army of volunteers, who began the project in the fall.

"There were so many people who took part in the planning, the building, and the organizing of the dugouts and I'd like to thank those individuals, as well," said Mullens.

In addition to naming the dozens of individuals and businesses that donated their time and effort to the event, Mullen extended a special thank you to Mike Gracia, the league's Grounds and Fields Coordinator.

"I want to recognize the person that really coordinated the entire project from start to beginning, put countless hours down here, and was really the main force in getting these dugouts done," said Mullens of Gracia's management of the project.

Softball Vice President Tim MacDougall continued the tradition of presenting softball players who have completed all possible ten years within the league with a Wilmington softball jacket. In the past, noted MacDougall, there have only been a handful of players who met the qualifications, but this year was different.

"I'm proud to say that, this year, we have 16 girls that have committed to the game that completed that requirement," said MacDougall.

The girls who met the requirement and were presented jackets were: Megan Howland, Lauren McKenna, Katie MacDougall, Kennedy Harper, Kelsey Mangan, Erin Duffy, Danielle Reynolds, Jacqueline Kennedy, Jackie Parece, Megan Priem, and Kim Woods.

"Many of these girls are still playing at the high school level in both varsity and JV," said MacDougall, commending the girls' commitment to the game despite the demands of high school.

The national anthem was performed by Wilmington's own Lauren Azevedo, and the first pitches for the day and league's opening game between the Yankees and the Athletics were thrown out by Bill Savosik and Charles Coleman.

Girls Tennis team trying to get back on track

By MIKE IPPOLITO & JAMIE POTE

The Wilmington High Girls Tennis team knew going into the season that it would be difficult competing in the Middlesex League and this past week was certainly confirmation of that, as the Wildcats suffered a pair of 5-0 defeats against two outstanding Middlesex League teams, falling to Lexington last Thursday and Reading on Tuesday.

In the Reading match, the Wildcats got some outstanding efforts, but it just was not enough against a seasoned and talented squad. Junior Katie Richardson dropped her first singles match by a score of 6-1, 6-0, while fellow junior Michelle Woods dropped a 6-0, 6-2 decision in second singles and Kristen Tavares suffered a 6-2, 6-2 loss in third singles.

In first singles, the Wildcats combination of senior captain Melanie Doherty and junior Delaney Gillis dropped a 6-1, 6-1 decision, while senior captain Sabrina Mirabella and junior Julia Carter dropped a 6-0, 6-3 decision in second doubles. "Reading was a very good team," Wilmington coach Kevin Welch said. "The girls were able to hang in the points but in the end Reading was able to close out point more effectively than we were."

Welch was particularly impressed with the efforts of Mirabella and Carter in second doubles.

"It was nice to see Julia and Sabrina play a strong second set," Welch said. "It shows they won't quit on themselves and will continue to work hard."

The Wildcats also found themselves overmatched against Lexington last week, with Tavares providing the best effort of the day with a 6-2, 6-3 loss in third singles.

While wins have been hard to come by for the Wildcats, whose record now stands at 1-6, Welch has seen steady improvement from his team as the season has gone on, even as they seek to find the best possible lineup.

"All three singles players have been showing improvement. Katie, Michelle and Kristen have been doing a great job," Welch said. "They have faced some tough competition the past couple of matches, but they are able to take positive things from every match and it will help their game improve."

"I have used a few different doubles combinations as we work to find the combinations that work the best together."

Regardless of who is in the lineup or what the results are, Welch knows he will continue to get a maximum effort from every member of this team.

"I have a very coachable group of girls," Welch said. "They are all continuing to work hard in practice to improve their game."

Mara and Richardson honored

Two members of the Wilmington High Tennis program, one member of the boys team and one member of the girls squad were honored at the Massachusetts Student Athlete Citizenship Awards Ceremony at Northeastern University on Tuesday afternoon.

Senior Jamie Mara of the boys squad and junior Katelyn Richardson of the girls team were each recipients of the Citizenship Award as they represented the Wildcats at the event, where the theme was "How can Student-Athletes Make a Difference in the Community?"

It was Mara's second year as an ambassador and the first for Richardson. The players were joined by boys tennis coach Robert Mailey as they heard from had several motivational speakers including Justin Rice from the Boston Globe, Justine Siegal founder of Baseball for All, as well as Eileen Curran from New England Cable News as our Master of Ceremonies.

BOYS TRACK

The Wilmington High School Boys Track-and-Field team picked up its first win of the season defeating Watertown, 74-62, last Wednesday in a Middlesex League Meet. The Wildcats are now 1-1 on the season. Eli Jennings and Pat Barry both had monster afternoons leading the team to a victory as the duo was part of 31 of the team's points. Jennings, a sophomore, won both the shot put (46-8) and discus (123-8.1) and was part of the winning 4x100 relay team along with Wayne Huynh, Connor Townsend and Andrew Fino, with a combined time of 48.3 seconds.

Barry finished first in the 110 meter hurdles with a time of 17.3 seconds, and then picked up a pair of second places in the long jump (17-05.2) and javelin (130-2). In addition, Huynh was third in both the high jump (5-5) and triple jump (34-3.3), while Townsend picked up a second in the 100 (12.5) and Fino was also a runner-up in the 200 coming in at 25.0 seconds. Those three guys were part of 13 of the team's points.

Dave Swider also had a very busy and impressive day taking first in both the 400 meters (55.4) and mile (4:54). Four other Wildcats were double place finishers including Jon Weaver who was third in both the discus (103'4.3) and 110 meter hurdles (19.9); James O'Regan who was second in the high jump (5-5) and third in the long jump (16-9); Erik Alatalo who was second in the triple jump (34-11) and second in the mile (10:59); and finally Peter Warren, who was second in the 400 meter hurdles (65.7) and third in the 800 (2:10.5). Killian Smith and Steve Halas also finished with a first place. Smith won the javelin tossing a gem of 134-9 and Halas won the 800 coming across at 2:04.9. Andrew Sears was right behind Halas taking second at 2:05.3, and Craig Smith rounded out the scoring by taking a point with a third place finish in the mile with a time of 5:14.

GIRLS TRACK

The Wilmington High School Girls Track-and-Field team lost its second Middlesex League meet this past week as Watertown came away with a 79-57 victory.

The top highlights of the meet came in two events the 400 hurdles and the discus where the Wildcats swept both events to take 18 points. In the hurdles, Savannah Hubbard (79.0), Rachel Mellen (81.8) and Jackie Ryan (83.8) went in order, and then in the discus it was Kaitlin Cowden (87-3), Melanie Folk (73-1) and Kristen Marranzini (70-10). Cowden and Folk also took second and third in the shot put throwing 28-5 and 27-2, respectively, Ryan was third in the 400 (73.2) and Mellen also swiped a second in the 100 meter hurdles coming in at 18.9 seconds.

Wilmington had two other double place finishers. Mariah Patrone was third in the high jump (4-1) and javelin (65-9), Kelly Hartsough was first in the 800 (2:26.5) and second in the triple jump (28-4). Rounding out the scoring includes a first place by Rachel Alatalo in the 400 (61.6) and a first by Keara MacCorkle in the two mile (13:46), a second place by Christa Sirignano in the javelin (66-10) and third places from Sydnee Russo in the mile (5:55.1), Jessica Hogan in the long jump (14-4) and Victoria Lee in the 110 hurdles (19.1).

BASEBALL

Two days after falling to Reading 6-0, the Wilmington High School Baseball team rallied to defeat Stoneham 3-2 on Friday afternoon, and then pulled off a crazy extra inning win on Tuesday against Watertown putting the team's record to .500 at 3-3 overall and 2-0 in the Middlesex League small school division.

Against Stoneham, the teams were in a 2-2 tie in the third inning before back-to-back doubles by Dalton Rolli and Cole Pepper was the difference in the Wildcats coming away with the win. Rolli had two doubles on the day but the biggest offensive star was Tim Woods, who finished 3-for-3 including a single, double and a triple. Colin Doherty added a RBI hit and Phil Lentini and Brendan McDonough also had one hit each.

Senior John Keough pitched four strong innings of hitless relief to earn the victory. He walked two batters and struck out four.

In the win over 4-3, 8 inning victory Watertown, the game was tied at 3-3 in the bottom of the eighth when Phil Lentini singled and advanced to third on a double by the red-hot Dalton Rolli. With no outs and runners at second-and-third, Watertown elected not to intentionally walk Wilmington's clean-up hitter Cole Pepper, who was already 3-for-3 in the game and he just missed on a 2-0 count and popped up to record the first out. Colin Doherty followed and he too was not walked and instead he hit a groundball back to the pitcher but the throw sailed over the head of the first baseman to score Lentini with the winning run.

Pepper and Rolli continue to be blazing hot with the bat this season both batting well over the .500 mark through the first six games of the season and on Tuesday they combined for five hits while Lentini, Doherty and Corey Stillings each had single hit. On the mound Keough returned and pitched the first six innings giving up two earned runs on six hits while striking out six. Rolli tossed the final two innings, giving up just one hit and striking out two to record the win.

"We're 3-3 right now and we have to have our pitching continue to hold up," said head coach Aldo Cairra. "On Tuesday we didn't walk a single batter and that was the first time this season we did that, and if we continue to pitch like that, we'll be fine and continue to be a solid team. I think we have been hitting the ball very well. Everyone is pitching in right now, we are sacrificing runners over when we have too and we're doing what we need to do to win ballgames. If we continue to score just one more run than the other team, I'll be happy."

In the loss to Reading, Woods and Rolli had two hits each in the losing effort while McDonough made a diving catch in center field.

Wilmington returned to action with a game against Melrose on Wednesday with results not known as of presstime before another road game on Friday against Wakefield before coming home Monday to face Burlington.

SOFTBALL

The Wilmington High School Girls Softball team also split two games this week losing first to Reading 13-3, before defeating Stoneham 4-1.

In the loss to Reading, the Lady Rockets were led by Tara Zervas and Nicole Nelson with two hits each, while Lindsey Price pitched most of the game for Reading and allowed just one hit and no earned runs, striking out four. Sam Gabriella and Sarah Bottiglio also pitched for Reading.

Nikki Lunt had the only hit for Wilmington.

"We've been hitting the ball well but our pitching has struggled," said Reading head coach Jill McElroy.

"Today our pitchers came around and we hit the ball well. Our defense also played well, and I thought Lindsey Price pitched great and pretty much mowed them down, since the three runs they got were unearned runs. We definitely needed this game and we're happy with the win."

After the Lady Wildcats scored three runs on no hits in the first two innings, the Lady Rockets exploded for six runs in the bottom of the second.

Emilie Manna walked, Victoria Marino tripled home Manna, and Lauren Carlson hit a sacrifice fly to score Marino.

After four straight walks scored another run, Nelson tripled home all three base runners, and gave Reading a 6-3 lead.

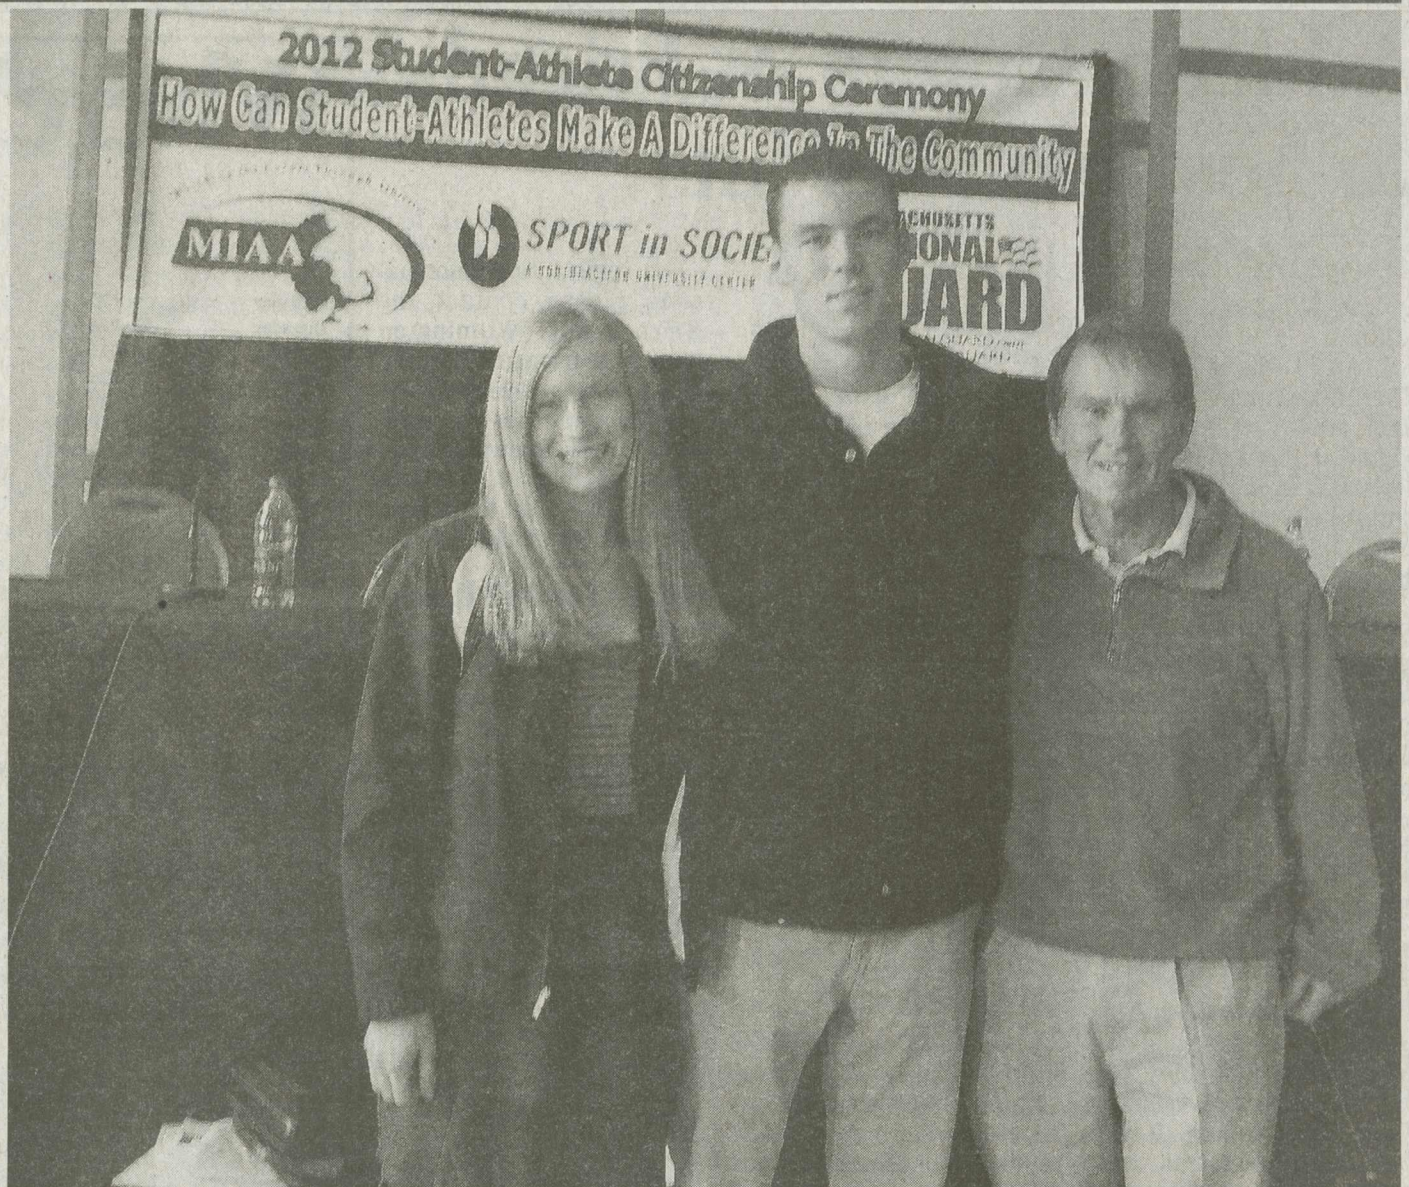

The Lady Rockets added two more runs in the third inning as Sydney Thayer reached on a fielder's choice, Zervas singled, and freshman Ashley Tango singled home Thayer and Zervas.

Reading scored twice more in the fourth frame, highlighted by base hits by Morgan Fallon and Manna, to extend its lead to 10-3, and went on to add three more runs in the sixth inning to cap the game's scoring.

Two days later, the Wildcats topped Stoneham 4-1 behind a two run triple by Emily Crannell, who then eventually scored on a two-run single by Alex Derian to help push Wilmington to 3-2 overall mark. Crannell also had a double as part of her strong performance at the plate and she helped teammate Nikki Lunt earn the victory on the mound as she gave up four hits, while walking three and striking out six.

Wilmington's game on Tuesday against Watertown was postponed and no make-up date has been announced yet.

The Daily Times Chronicle also contributed to this report.

Little League Games began this past weekend

Wilmington Little League opened the season with the Athletics hosting the Yankees after our annual parade and Opening Day ceremonies at Rotary Park. The two teams played a great game, entertaining the 250 fans who remained at the field to watch the 2012 season's first game. The Athletics came out on top 5-2 behind the strong pitching of Danny Gracia. The Yankees countered with Jason Dunn, who pitched well in his first start of the season.

The White Sox overcame a 3-0 deficit to defeat the Red Sox 4-3 in an exciting opening day match up. Connor MacKenzie pitched four innings for the White Sox, backed up by Chris Grecco who pitched two strong innings in relief. Josh Bartnicki started on the mound for the Red Sox and pitched five strong innings. Joey Riberio and Joey McNerny led the hit parade for the White Sox, while Kyle Kenyon executed a key sacrifice bunt, putting the winning run in scoring position. Matt Amentola and Dom Malatesta both had three hits leading the Red Sox attack.

In the third game of the day the Indians hosted the Twins in an epic pitcher's duel between Riley Zaya for the Indians and Ben Maynard for the Twins. The Indians took a 1-0 lead before the Twins rallied in the top of the sixth inning to score two runs and hold on for a 2-1 victory. Steve Bonish and Jared Marquard each had hits for the Twins, while John Kenney and Jared Aucoin led the Indians offensive attack.

The final game played on Opening Day had the Orioles hosting the Tigers. Grahame Smith no-hit the Orioles while striking out 13 batters leading the Tigers to a 5-0 victory. Jonathan Sears pitched four innings for the Orioles with Billy McEvoy coming in for two innings in relief. The Sears/McEvoy combination struck out six Tigers. Richie McNamara let the hit attack for the Tigers, Justin Fraser also chipped in with a hit. Ryan St. Jean, Christian Robarge and Nolan Kane provided great defense for the Orioles.

know the question always becomes: who gets to throw out the first pitch," said Mullens. "And, it was pretty simple once we thought about it and we're going to continue that tradition today by honoring two of Wilmington's veterans."

Both Coleman and Savosik served in the U.S. Army. Savosik is a Vietnam-era veteran who, up until a few years ago, served as a coach in the WLL. Coleman has completed tours in Iraq and Afghanistan, just having returned from the latter in January 2012. Both men were presented commemorative baseballs signed by the every player on the opening game teams.

Miceli brought a congratulations from the State House of Representatives to mark the occasion, in which the assembly "offer[ed] its sincerest congratulations to the Wilmington Little League, in recognition of your opening day celebration and many years of good sportsmanship, commitment, hard work, and the love of the sport of baseball. May this season bring you all the fun and excitement that the game of baseball inspires in all of us. The entire membership extends its very best wishes."

"Someone said it earlier: these are great memories," said Miceli, echoing the unifying theme of the day. "Keep them close to yourself and, you know as I said, all of the volunteers put in their time to make this thing go. These are people in this community who donate their time, very often in very many causes."

"Remember to be kind to your teammates and your opponents and especially your umpires," Cairra advised the young players. "And remember that this is a game that you can enjoy, but it's an experience that you'll remember for the rest of your life."

Wilmington's own Lauren Azevedo sung the national anthem at the opening of the Wilmington Little League season on Saturday morning. (photo by JoeBrownphotos.com).

Rams Baseball team picks up pair of wins

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

The Shawsheen Tech Baseball team went 2-1 this past week, picking up wins over CAC rival Northeast Metro Tech on Tuesday afternoon in Billerica, and non-league rival Ashland on Saturday in another home game. The Rams one loss of the week came in extra innings to CAC rival Whittier last Thursday, in what may have been their best played game of the season.

Shawsheen (6-1, 3-1) was originally scheduled to take on Northeast on Monday, but with the game postponed due to inclement weather, the Rams had to wait an extra day before pulling off their big 6-3 comeback win.

Shawsheen fell into a 2-0 hole in the top of the first inning, but bounced back quickly to take a 3-2 at the end of the first, with the big blow coming on a two run homer by senior Joe Sodergren of Tewksbury.

Northeast came back to tie the score at 3-3 in the third inning, but the Rams took the lead for good in the fourth on an RBI double by Joe Vitale of Wilmington, and added two more runs in the fifth for the 6-3 final in a game where every member of the Rams starting lineup had at least one hit.

Tewksbury's Mike Bowse pitched very well after struggling in the first inning, throwing a complete game, while allowing only three hits and striking out seven.

While Bowse was the star on the mound for the Rams in the win over Northeast, he had been one of many stars in Saturday's 10-6 win over Ashland, collecting two doubles and single while also driving in a run.

But the biggest offensive star of the day for the Rams against Ashland was Sodergren who belted two home runs, while driving in five. Sodergren has been red hot as of late, hitting not only for a high average, but also plenty of power.

"Joe has been very focused," Shawsheen coach Jim Sullivan said. "When he is hitting home runs it is because he is not trying to hit home runs. He's got a great line drive swing with very quick hands, and the ball just explodes off his bat."

Along with Sodergren and Bowse, the Rams also got multiple hits from Joe Tower of Tewksbury, along with Paul DePlacido and Joe Vitale. Matt Lucia, Cory Suprey, and Steve Reynolds and Frank Murray of Wilmington each also had a hit for the Rams.

"Everyone contributed in that one," Sullivan said. "It is nice to get contributions from everyone like that. That was very similar to today's game (Northeast)."

Just as they did against Northeast, the Rams battled back from an early 2-0 deficit in this game as well, as they once again allowed two runs in the top of the first inning.

Shawsheen responded with six runs in the bottom of the third, with the big blow coming on Sodergren's first home run of the day, and they never looked back.

Sullivan was not surprised to see his team come from behind in either the Ashland or the Northeast game, as he has plenty of confidence in his team's ability to score runs.

"We play with confidence," Sullivan said. "Even when we are down we know we are a good hitting team and if we play like we know we can we will be able to come back."

The Rams only loss of the week came the day before the Ashland game in heartbreaking fashion to CAC rival Whittier as they suffered a 4-3 loss when the Wildcats pushed across a run in the bottom of the ninth to end an epic battle.

Despite the heartbreaking loss, however, Sullivan was very pleased with his team's play. The score was tied 3-3 in the fourth inning and remained that way.

"That was one of the best high school games I have ever seen," Sullivan said. "Both teams played really hard and both teams got great efforts from their pitchers, and that's why the score was still 3-3 in the bottom of the ninth."

Austin Cummings pitched a great game for the Rams, going 7.1 innings, and striking out five while allowing eight hits. Sodergren, Bowse and Tower had two hits apiece, who impressed Sullivan with the way they battled Whittier for nine innings.

SOFTBALL

The Shawsheen Softball team picked up three big wins of their own this week, routing CAC rival Lynn Tech 17-0 last Thursday before coming up with an impressive 3-2 state tournament like victory over non-league rival Bishop Fenwick on Saturday and a thrilling 8-4 win over CAC rival Greater Lowell in the rain on Monday afternoon at Shawsheen.

In the win over Greater Lowell the Lady Rams (6-1, 5-1) battled back from a 4-2 fourth inning deficit and took the lead for good with four runs in the bottom of fifth as they were led to the victory by an outstanding pitching performance from junior Emily Hamilton of Tewksbury, who came on in relief and allowed just one run over five innings while striking out eight.

Shawsheen took a 2-0 lead in the first inning when Arianna Medeiros of Tewksbury scored on a sacrifice by Steph Champoux of Tewksbury and Jamie Ray scored on a double by another Tewksbury resident, Franny Pesantes.

After falling into a 4-2 hole in the top of the second, Shawsheen came back to tie the score in the bottom of the fourth when Medeiros doubled and scored on a single by Danielle Cacciola, who scored moments later on an RBI single by Jamie Roy, one of four RBI's on the day for Ray.

Shawsheen took the lead for good in the bottom of the fifth with the big blows coming on an RBI single by Jen Curtis and an RBI double by Roy.

Shawsheen coach Maureen Buckley was pleased to see so many members of the Lady Rams contributing on offense, not just in this game, but throughout the season so far.

"Everyone is contributing up and down the lineup," Buckley said. "It's nice to not have to depend on just one or two people. We have been playing some very good pitchers lately, but we have been making adjustments and hitting well."

Along with the great hitting of course, the Lady Rams also got a great effort from Hamilton who came in when fellow star pitcher Meghan Walsh struggled and shut down Greater Lowell.

"Emily pitched an amazing game under some not great conditions," Buckley said. "They had a little rally in the seventh, but Emily shut them down and she did a great job all game. She really came in and settled things down."

With one league loss on their record to this point, a 10-8 setback against Whittier last week, Buckley knows her team can't afford many more slip ups within the CAC.

"Every league game is so important right now having already given one away," Buckley said. "We can't drop another one or we will have no chance at winning the league so this was a big win for us."

On Saturday, as part of the Ed Henry Scholarship Tournament in Peabody, the Lady Rams came up with a big 3-2 non-league win over Bishop Fenwick in a post season type game.

"This was an outstanding game," Buckley said. "The girls played as well as any Shawsheen Tech team I have ever seen play. We played great defense and came up with big hits when we needed them and Emily pitched another great game."

Indeed Hamilton was outstanding once again, striking out six batters, while allowing eight hits in a complete game effort. Offensively Shawsheen was led by Champoux who went 2-for-3 with two RBI, while Medeiros had a double and an RBI.

Boys Lacrosse

The Shawsheen Boys Lacrosse team suffered a couple of setbacks last week with a pair of losses to non-league rivals Medford and Haverhill, but this week a return to CAC play meant a return to the win column for the Rams as they routed league rival Lynn Tech at Manning Field in Lynn on Monday to improve their overall record to 5-2 on the season, while they are a perfect 5-0 in the CAC.

Shawsheen was led by a six goal, two assist outburst from senior attack Tim Hunt of Wilmington, while they also got two goals each from Alec Dellanno and Tewksbury's Nicco Riparo.

"It is obviously good to get the win, but the opponent was not much," head coach Chuck Baker said. "We played OK last night, but we still have a lot of work to do."

One player who was much more than just ok, was Hunt, who added to his team lead in goal with his six tallies on Monday. It was just the latest outstanding performance in what has been a great season for Hunt.

"He is our leading scorer and we as a team need him to continue to play well," Baker said. "He has a great shot, very accurate, and has a knack of being in the scoring position around the net for the dump. He has been playing great."

Dellanno and Riparo have also been big reasons for the Rams success to this point in the season and their two goals each were just the latest evidence of how valuable they are to the Rams.

"They both have been playing well," Baker said. "Alec has been playing very well as a sophomore attack man. He is very poised. Nicco is a great speed guy for us and is improving each and every game."

Rich Etter and Kevin Vacca shared the duties in goal for the Rams with Etter making five saves and Vacca coming up with two stops.

Lallys become first 3rd generation police officers in Woburn

By GORDON VINCENT

Like father, like son ... like daughter.

When Kylee Lally was sworn in as a reserve police officer at Woburn's inaugural ceremony on January 2, she not only became the first daughter to follow her father onto the force, she also became the first third generation member of the Woburn Police Dept., according to Woburn Police Chief Robert Ferullo.

Kylee, 27, follows her father, John, 52, who has been a patrolman for 25 years. John followed his father, Patrick (better known as Joe), who was a patrolman, detective and sergeant.

"I knew it was something I always wanted to do," said Kylee, who is currently training at the MBTA academy in Quincy. "It (police work) has been in my family. I've been surrounded by it my entire life."

Kylee volunteered for the Drug Abuse Resistance Education (DARE) program in high school, and that sparked her interest in law enforcement.

The 26-week training course started in March. Kylee trains five days a week, about nine hours a day, undergoing exhaustive academic and physical drills designed to prepare her for a career on the beat.

Once she graduates, she will be in line for an appointment as a full-time police officer, joining her father.

Kylee said her dad neither encouraged nor discouraged her from pursuing a career in police work. Kylee has an older sister who had no interest in law enforcement and instead pursued a career in the health care field.

"It's not something Kylee and I really ever talked about," said John. "If this is what she wants to do, my wife and I support her. If she wanted to do something else, we would have supported her, too."

John's role model in that regard was his father, who also left the decision up to him whether to enter the law enforcement realm. Both Lallys have fond memories of running. It's not unusual to see John running in the city, training for a road race or marathon. He estimates he has run 15 or 16 marathons, including the Boston Marathon 10 times.

John joined the force as a reserve officer in 1984, just as his father was winding down his career. He was appointed full-time in 1987. In those days, shifts were handled differently. Lally would work an overnight shift, have the morning and early afternoon off, and then return for the late afternoon/evening shift.

"It wasn't anything I wasn't used to," said John, who now works the day shift on the 4-days-on; 2-days-off rotation.

"We grew up knowing what the score was," added Kylee. "The job involves nights, weekends and holidays. You learn that you have to eat on Christmas or Easter a little Patrick Lally, who was appointed to the force in 1950, became a detective in 1964, was promoted to sergeant in 1982 and retired three years later. He passed away in 2001.

"He was always there, at track meets or shooting softball (with a video camera)," said Kylee, a 2002 Woburn High graduate who was on the cross-country, track and softball teams. "And he wasn't there just for me. He was there for every one of the million grandkids he had."

If John passed the law enforcement gene to his daughter, Kylee returned the favor by getting her father interested in

Movie Reviews

by Paul Feely

"THE THREE STOOGES" STILL FUNNY

"THE THREE STOOGES" are back! Not everyone gets the humor of the Stooges, but if you are a fan of the original Stooges, then you will enjoy this remake.

"THE THREE STOOGES"
GRADE: **

You really have to be a fan of the original Three Stooges to enjoy the new film that pays homage to the trio, "The Three Stooges".

The movie is about 90 minutes of brutal slapstick, terrible puns and a plot that's barely outlined for actors and audience members alike. There are slaps, eye pokes, falls from tall buildings and objects landing on people. There are fake sound effects and bloodless hurting of individuals.

Unless you are already inclined to laugh hysterically at that kind of comedy, the movie's merits will be lost on you.

Brothers Bobby and Peter Farrelly, known for producing comedies such as Dumb and Dumber and There's Something About Mary, have revisited the inspiring images of Moe Howard, Larry Fine and Curly Howard originally presented in short comedies in the 1930s and 1940s.

Those comedies were rediscovered by a new generation of young fans when the shorts were televised during the 1950s, which helped elevate the Stooges to showbiz immortality, at least among those, mostly men, who can't help but giggle at all the nonsense.

In this version, Sean Hayes (of TV's 'Will and Grace') plays Larry, Will Sasso is Curly and Chris Diamantopoulos is Moe. But the Farrellys know the territory and have approached with respect and an eye for detail — but not so much that they forget the main reason behind these characters, to make us laugh.

Hayes is especially good at Larry's half-murmured spoken delivery, but all three actors have clearly studied the expressions of their predecessors — and the incredible timing and speed that went into making all the gags work.

The film is also stacked with funny supporting players, notably Larry David as a grouchy nun.

'The Three Stooges' does have a plot: the story (such as it is) is that the Stooges are orphaned friends who, as adults, must save their orphanage from being closed. During their efforts, they get entangled with a murder-plotting couple (Sofia Vergara and Craig Bierko), strain their friendship and create many opportunities to use silly sound effects.

Not everyone gets the humor of the Stooges. That was true for the original shorts, and it holds true for the new version as well. But then again, if you are among those that already know you don't think the original gags were funny, it's unlikely you are the target audience for the new film.

The old Stooges made me laugh. And so do the new ones.

"THE CABIN IN THE WOODS"
GRADE: **

Writer Joss Whedon has taken the horror genre and turned it on its head in his latest, "The Cabin in the Woods". Directed by Drew Goddard and co-written with Whedon, "Cabin" is an entertaining and wholly original genre hybrid film that, although it may appear to be a typical slasher flick at first sight, has more than a few tricks up its sleeves.

Taking a cue from classic horror movies like "The Evil Dead," the story is pretty simple: five college friends — Curt (Chris Hemsworth), Dana (Kristen Connolly), Holden (Jesse Williams), Jules (Anna Hutchison) and Marty (Fran Kranz) — drive to a cabin in the middle of nowhere (it can't even be located on GPS) for a week-end of fun. But what starts out as an innocent retreat quickly devolves into something straight out of a nightmare when a family of red-neck pain-worshippers is inadvertently resurrected from the dead, thrusting the friends into a fight for their lives.

What the group doesn't realize, however, is that the whole thing is being orchestrated by a third party with ulterior motives, although to say any more would ruin the surprise, and take the fun out of experiencing it for yourself.

Whedon and Goddard's script playfully toys with the laws of horror movies much like Wes Craven's "Scream." Though it does have some moments of genuine terror, the duo keeps the mood surprisingly light for the most part with broad strokes of humor.

The cast of victims is also much better than your average slasher film. Fran Kranz is a standout as the comic relief of the gang.

But the real stars of the film are Richard Jenkins and Bradley Whitford, in a pair of hilarious roles as the guys pulling the strings behind all the death and horror at the cabin. The movie goes a bit off the rails in the final act after its big reveal, but overall yields a very crowd-pleasing result.

"AMERICAN REUNION"
GRADE: **

In the comedy 'American Reunion', all the 'American Pie' characters we met a little more than a decade ago return to East Great Falls for their high-school reunion. In one long-overdue weekend, they will discover what has changed, who hasn't and that time and distance can't break the bonds of friendship.

For those unfamiliar with the film 'American Pie', it was set in the summer of 1999 when four small-town Michigan boys began a quest to lose their virginity. In the years that have passed, Jim and Michelle married while Kevin and Vicky said goodbye. Oz and Heather grew apart, but Finch still longs for Stifler's mom.

'American Reunion' emphatically confirms that nostalgia for the '90s is building. The 'American Pie' gang are constantly confused by things like Facebook, YouTube, reality TV and mobile phones.

If you are a fan of the original, it's fun catching up with these old friends. If not, it's still a funny, raunchy comedy.

North Reading resident

Korn discusses the "Art of Stenciling"

On Thursday, May 10, 7:00 - 9:00pm, at the Flint Memorial Library, Suzanne Korn of North Reading will be presenting "New England's Timeless Decoration: The Folk Art of Moses Eaton, Jr. and Rufus Porter."

This will be a fun and informative evening where attendees will learn about the tremendous impact the folk art of Eaton and Porter had on the lives of rural New Englanders in Federal period America.

The evening will feature a slideshow of Korn's journeys throughout New England, where she has conducted research in homes, inns and taverns with Eaton's historic wall stenciling and Porter's signature landscape murals.

The history of wall stenciling in New England, the life and times of Moses Eaton, Jr., and the genius of Rufus Porter, are all topics that will be explored. Some exciting new research regarding Rufus Porter will also be discussed.

Korn has been researching, studying and writing about early New England wall stenciling for over 10 years, and her research has been published in The Decorator, a publication of the Historical Society of Early American Decoration.

In 2005, she completed a project at North Reading's David Damon Tavern, where she stenciled the walls of the Historical Society's Welcome Center in the tradition of 19th century stenciler, Moses Eaton, Jr.

Korn's original art, including landscape murals in the tradition of the Rufus Porter School and her stenciled reproductions of Moses Eaton, Jr. designs, will be on display in the Library Reading Room during May.

The event is co-sponsored by the North Reading Antiquarian and Historical Society and the Friends of the Library. Free and open to the public. For further information, please call 978-664-4942.

'NOTEWORTHY' IN TEWKSBURY

"Some noteworthy events from Tuesday's Board of Selectmen meeting," notes the Tewksbury "Town Crier":

"At the beginning of the meeting, Fire Chief Michael Hazel honored five firemen for their exemplary service. William Gosse and Timothy Holden received recognition for heroic efforts. Daniel Sitar, Richard Hamm, and Lt. Scott Keddie were praised for their twenty-five year service to the department.

"All received standing ovations.

"At the close of the recognition, Todd Johnson, the Chairman of the Board, said, 'Tewksbury is well-served and well-protected,' referring to the Fire Department.

"The Tewksbury Trot Race, which will be produced by Harry Pratt and Jim Sauro of TJ Automotive, finally received approval. Proceeds from the event will go toward Tewksbury's Patriotic Activities Committee.

"We're happy to partner with Mr. Sauro on this event," said Pat Holland, who was there on behalf of the Patriotic Activities Committee.

"Sauro said he guaranteed $5,000 will be given to the committee.

"The fireworks, as it were, are back on...."

WORTH NOTING IN READING

"During the Public Input portion of the recent School Committee Meeting, Reading resident Robert Aiello asked the Committee members once more to consider making student volunteerism mandatory," notes the Reading edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"He said that he has four children and nine grandchildren. Two of his grandchildren attend school in Reading. 'We are here for the same reason, we love our children,' he said.

"Aiello told the Committee that he volunteers at a prison and listens to inmates. He said, 'I listen to the inmates, the stories that they tell me are so sad. No one cared about them.' He spoke of his concern about recent deaths of two young people in Reading.

"Aiello suggested the implementation of a mandatory 40 hours of voluntary service for high school students (10 hours per year). This has already been implemented in Lexington.

About the Towns

by Phyllis Nissen

FIRE POWER, 'MANDATORY VOLUNTEERISM,' WOLF PACKING

"He said, 'The motivation is to reach kids that would never volunteer on their own. The objective is to reach children that are not reachable; the kids that don't have a clue of what they could be doing.' He also said that the exception is that we know all of the students will not be able to participate.

"He provided a description of the program in Lexington. The librarian has a mailbox where the students deposit a completed form. She approves the form and provides feedback. The project cannot be done for school credit, for profit or have a religious base. Some suggestions are raking leaves for an elderly or disabled person or singing carols in nursing home. The children are able to see a different dimension.

"Aiello told the Committee, 'We are letting the children down by not exposing them to different experiences.'

OF NOTE IN WAKEFIELD

"Wakefield native and Merrimack College goaltending standout Joe Cannata has capped off a stellar collegiate career between the pipes by signing a contract to play professionally within the Vancouver Canucks organization," notes the Wakefield edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"I'd like to thank Merrimack and head coach Mark Dennehy for the opportunity over the last four years," said Cannata. "I am excited to be a part of a first-class organization like Vancouver and cannot wait to further my career. It wouldn't have happened without the help of everyone at Merrimack. I am so proud to be a part of Merrimack College and to see how far the program has come and how much the culture has changed in my four years.'....

Cannata reported to the Chicago Wolves of the American Hockey League, after signing an Amateur Tryout Contract.

"There are not too many players in the nation that can change the landscape of college hockey like Joe Cannata has," said head coach Mark Dennehy. "Joe put Merrimack back on the map nationally, and I am really happy for him. I believe Vancouver, a team that has the propensity of finding great goalies, has found a NHL level goaltender in Joe."

"We're very high on him and we are in the process right now of trying to sign him," Canucks assistant general manager Lorne Henning said...."

•MIDDLESEX EAST SPORTS WEEKLY TRIVIA:

This former St. Louis Blues goaltender is tied with Gump Worsley for the most losses in an NHL career. Who is he?

Answer appears elsewhere in this column.

•Mark Sanborn (Hopkinton, Mass.) and Cam Kneeland (Rowley, Mass.) each knocked in a pair of runs to lead UMass Lowell baseball to a 10-3 victory at Post University.

The non-conference victory boosted the River Hawks to 20-13-1 overall, while the Eagles fell to 11-22 on the campaign.

The bulk of UMass Lowell's offense on the day came in the second inning where it plated seven runs to effectively take control of the game. The first blow was struck on an errant play that brought home PAT DEVLIN (TEWKSBURY, MASS.). Moments later Matthew Sanchez (Sunrise, Fla.) smacked an RBI single through the left side. A few batters after that, Matt Jacobs (Hudson, Mass.) drew a bases loaded walk and then Sanchez scored on an error. As the momentum kept gaining, Kneeland clubbed a two-run single to right field and Sanborn hit an RBI single to right-center.

Post got a couple runs back in the seventh, scoring on a RBI single by Jeff St. Pierre (Milford, Conn.) and a two-run single by Kevin Fearon (Williston Park, N.Y.).

The lead was reestablished to seven in the ninth as the River Hawks pegged three more runs. Sanborn connected on a one-out solo home run off the left field foul pole, while Zach Berger (Coral Gables, Fla.) scored on an error and Greg Wilson (Medford, Mass.) added an RBI single.

•Stonehill College received 22 top-five performances, established three school records and set one facility record en route to a second-straight second place finish as the host of the Skyhawk Invitational at W.B. Mason Stadium.

Tufts University took home the team title in the fifth annual Skyhawk Invitational with 206.50 points. The host Skyhawks placed second (175 points), Boston University finished third (144.50), Bridgewater State University (BSU) ranked fourth (90) and Connecticut College was fifth overall (50.50).

Following the 10,000-meter run seniors Jill Alves (Whitman, Mass./Whitman-Hanson), Christen Carrier (Manchester, N.H./Manchester Central), Maura Ferrarini (Springfield, Mass./Cathedral), Kristen Mahoney (Weymouth, Mass./Weymouth) and Vlada Shelkova (Newington, Conn./Newington) were all honored for their contributions towards the women's track & field program.

Freshman Maria Curit (Biddeford, Maine/Biddeford) headlined Stonehill's efforts with two school record performances in the 400-meter run and the long jump. Curit, who took first place in both events, posted a time of 57.58-seconds in the 400-meter run eclipsing the previous program best of 58.54-seconds by Jackie Burbank which was set on May 4, 2002 at the Northeast-10 Conference (NE-10) Championships, hosted by Bryant University. In the long jump, Curit recorded a leap of 17-feet and 11.75-inches to narrowly surpass the previous program high-water mark of 17-feet and 11.5-inches set by Megan King also on May 4, 2002.

JUNIOR CAROLINE MCBRIDE (NORTH READING, MASS./NORTH READING) finished in second place overall in the 10,000-meter run with a time of 37:40.01, shattering the previous program best of 37:47.63 set by Kelly Chaisson on March 24, 2007 at Northeastern. BSU junior Molly Rouillard (Dartmouth, MA/Dartmouth) placed first overall in 37:29.04 setting a new facility record at W.B. Mason Stadium. The previous record was held by Jess Jarrard of Stonehill (40:26.76 - 5/1/10). Mahoney finished third overall in the event in 38-minutes and 29.28-seconds.

Stonehill's 4x800-meter relay team comprised of Curit, Alves, freshman Sarah Wilson (West Suffield, Conn./Suffield) and Carrier finished first overall in a facility record time of 9:32.53. In the 800-meter run, Wilson ranked second overall in 2:16.24 and Carrier followed in third place with a time of 2:16.82. FRESHMAN ERIN RIELLY (BURLINGTON, MASS./BURLINGTON) was eighth overall (2:21.10).

Sophomore Chelsea Bishop (Suffield, Conn./Suffield) finished first overall in the 5,000-meter run, more than ten seconds ahead of second place, in a time of 18:37.27. Freshman Brittany Ventura (Taunton, Mass./Coyle & Cassidy) ranked third overall in 19:02.69.

The Skyhawks placed three runners inside the top-five in the 1,500-meter run as Emily Anderson (Manchester, Conn./Manchester) led the trio with a second place performance in 4:46.15. Alves was third overall with a time of 4:48.90 while Ferrarini finished fourth in 4:54.51.

Other Stonehill and Skyhawk Invitational Highlights Include:

Junior Kristen Veit (East Hampton, Mass./Holyoke Catholic) placed second in the 3,000-meter steeplechase recording a time of 11:38.70.

•Need some help with the trivia question? His initials are C.J.

•For the second race in as many days, UMass Lowell captured both the varsity and novice four races at the Clark University regatta.

UMass Lowell won the varsity fours race in 8 minutes, 44 seconds for the 2,000 meter course and defeated Schenectady County Community College (9:20.4) and Assumption (9:49.3).

Leading UMass Lowell was senior coxswain Irene Cassidy (Methuen, Mass.) along with seniors Amanda Murray (West Newbury, Mass.) and Kerry Siebert (Byfield, Mass.); junior Melinda Neale (Plaistow, N.H.) and freshman Jenna Bueno (Methuen, Mass.).

UMass Lowell captured the Novice Four race in 8:44.6 and remains unbeaten in three regattas this spring. The River Hawks cruised past Mount Holyoke (9:25.8) and Clark University (9:29.2).

UMass Lowell's Novice Fours included sophomore coxswain Rachel Paquette (Dracut, Mass.), Bueno, freshmen Erinn McLaughlin (Lowell, Mass.), Meredith Swan (Gloucester, Mass.) and SOPHOMORE KATIE JUDD (LYNNFIELD, MASS.).

"This was the first of two consecutive weekends of back to back racing against top ranked opponents," said head coach Veronika Platzer. "I am extremely pleased that we have the fitness and mental fortitude to race flat out in four tough races. Much like yesterday, the eight dismantled and jumped into fours and raced to overwhelming victories in both the Novice Four and Varsity Four."

•Senior catcher Lindsi Panarelli (Shrewsbury, Mass.) hit a three-run home run in the first game as UMass Lowell split with the University of New Haven, winning the first game 6-2 and dropping the second 0-3, in a Northeast-10 Conference softball doubleheader at the UNH Softball Field.

With the split, UMass Lowell stands at 30-13 overall and 16-9 in the NE-10.

UMass Lowell broke a 2-2 deadlock with four runs in the seventh inning to turn back New Haven in the opener. With two out, ALLY GREENE (TEWKSBURY, MASS.) reached on an error while junior 2B Krista MacKenzie (Ipswich, Mass.) followed with a single.

Senior DH Elyssa Boris (Gardner, Mass.) then singled to score Greene and Panarelli followed with her three-run shot, her fifth home run of the year.

In the bottom half of the inning, New Haven threatened with runners on first and second with one out, but FRESH- MAN PITCHER COURTNEY LANFRANCHI (BURLINGTON, MASS.) retired two straight batters to end the game.

Panarelli led UMass Lowell, hitting 2 for 3 with two runs while junior 1B Bri Mahoney (Billerica, Mass.) went 2 for 3 and Boris 2 for 4.

Lanfranchi improved to 12-7 as she allowed eight hits, two earned runs and a walk while striking out one.

•ANSWER TO THIS WEEK'S TRIVIA QUESTION: Curtis Joseph, with

352 losses.

Lallys from S-1

later or a little earlier depending upon who is working. It's part of the job."

What has changed is how the law enforcement community deals with the public. For better or worse, police work is a lot more formal than it was in Patrick Lally's day.

"When my father was on the force, the cops knew all the kids in town, and if there was trouble, you could just kick his butt and take the kid home," said John. "You can't do that anymore, and you certainly can't kick anyone's butt any more."

Like all other communities, Woburn isn't insulated from drugs and the crime that results from their use.

Interactions with drug users and dealers have become the biggest danger associated with the job.

Of course, John was deeply affected by the murder of colleague John "Jack" Maguire in 2010. Maguire was killed by Domenic Cinelli, a career criminal who had been granted parole, during a robbery of Kohl's department store. Maguire was the first member of the Woburn Police Dept. to be killed by gunfire in the line of duty.

"You look at what happened with Jack, and the root of that was drugs," said John. "There was that incident in New Hampshire (where a police chief was killed in a drug raid). Drugs have made the job more dangerous."

Still, he doesn't worry too much about his daughter's prospects as an officer. He knows Kylee is a confident young woman who will rely on her training and intelligence to become a good police officer who will carry on the family legacy.

Spencer Granite in North Reading expands

Spencer Granite owner, Antonio Filho

Ten years ago, a granite fabrication company was started in western Massachusetts called Spencer Granite Company. Now operating out of North Reading, the owner, Antonio Filho had a vision for his company: to create a granite business that catered to customers and held the highest standards of quality.

Antonio was born and raised in Brazil, the son of a prominent bank manager and lawyer. Both parents were very successful; his father managed the largest bank in Brazil and his mother owned a top notch law firm. A comfortable life did not prevent him from wanting to find his own success. Antonio quit his engineering classes at the Catholic University and struck out on his own.

"I always believed that if I worked hard enough that I could succeed in life," Antonio said.

After moving to the United States, Antonio began doing work as a subcontractor performing installations for other granite companies. Two years later, he opened his own showroom and fabrication shop. "I'm proud to say we measure, cut, polish and install every single job we do," he says.

First to arrive to the shop in the early morning and last to leave, Antonio's attention to detail is unwavering. He oversees the cutting and polishing of the stones to ensure the highest standards of quality are met and remains committed to making sure his high expectations are realized. A few years after opening Antonio relocated the showroom to North Reading.

The showroom displays a wide selection of granite samples and edge profiles along with full kitchen displays and bathroom vanities. In addition, Spencer Granite also partners with several local granite distributors which allow customers to choose their own slab out of hundreds of possibilities and colors.

Spencer Granite's philosophy is simple. Impeccable quality of service, customer care, a quick turnaround coupled with a friendly staff and great workmanship are the vision Antonio had when he opened the company.

"A lot of people think that all granite companies are the same, but what makes our company unique is that we are obsessed with our customer's complete satisfaction", he says.

In addition, Spencer Granite guarantees the best quality for a reasonable price. These are all of the elements that enabled Antonio to turn Spencer Granite into a successful business.

"If you want to be successful in your life you need to take risks. I saw an opportunity and I went for it", he said.

Apart from granite, Spencer now also specializes in marble and engineered stone installations. No size jobs are denied, "We do it all, from small vanity tops and fireplace surrounds to big commercial projects such as hotels, restaurants, country clubs and multi-unit apartments all over New England." It's no small wonder Antonio's vision has transformed Spencer Granite into a great, local, successful company with an impeccable reputation.

Located at 161 Main Street (Route 28) in North Reading, the Spencer Granite showroom is open from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., Monday through Friday and 10:00 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Saturdays. For more information, call (978) 664-1471.

Famous breast cancer survivors

Celebrity may bring a person riches and fame, but it cannot protect against cancer. There are many famous women who have experienced breast cancer and beat the disease. Here's a look at some of them.

1. Suzanne Somers. The famous infomercial guru and former star of "Three's Company" battled breast cancer, facing controversy when she opted for holistic treatment over standard treatment.

2. Olivia Newton John. The Australian singer and star of the wildly popular movie, "Grease," was diagnosed in 1992. Newton John had a mastectomy and breast reconstruction.

3. Rue McClanahan. The late star of "Golden Girls" found a lump in 1997.

4. Linda Ellerbee. A journalist and 1991 survivor, Ellerbee had a bilateral mastectomy.

5. Lynn Redgrave. The late Ms. Redgrave hailed from a family of actors. She was also a breast cancer survivor.

6. Anastacia. The pop singer was diagnosed in 2003 and now does her part for raising awareness.

7. Christina Applegate. The child and adult star underwent surgery to have both her breasts removed in an operation known as a prophylactic double mastec-tomy after experiencing cancer and discovering she carries the gene for it. She's learned from the experiences of her mother, a double breast-cancer survivor.

Graduation garb and colors an historical tradition

The graduation cap and gown is a tradition dating back to the 12th and 13th centuries. The Committee on Academic Costumes and Ceremonies adopted rules regarding style of dress and academic discipline colors that would signify areas of study and the degree that was received in America. European standards may differ.

While the standard color for academic gowns is black, many colleges and universities are known to adopt the school colors. Trimming and tassel colors may coordinate to the specifications regarding academic degrees.

Individuals receiving a Bachelor's degree will have a gown with pointed sleeves. Those receiving a Master's degree have oblong sleeves, open at the wrist. In the Doctorate program, individuals wear bell-shaped sleeves that can be worn open or shut.

In terms of degree colors, there are certain shades that represent specific areas of study. These have remained unchanged for years and are featured on tassels trims and hoods:
